

Make space for what matters

with Think Productive

Your people will shine. Your organization will thrive.

The Universal Problem

Incredibly, work has become noisier, faster and more complex than we could have imagined.

There's always more work than time. The meetings and messages never stop, priorities compete, and attention gets pulled in ten directions at once. The focused, strategic thinking is the first thing to get squeezed out. And now AI is speeding all of it up, without making the actual work any clearer.

If your teams are busy but not sure they're making real progress, they're not alone. New tools promise efficiency, but most people just feel more overwhelmed: more change, more noise, and no shared way of working that holds it together.

What's missing?

Making space for human thinking. To get clear on what matters, to structure the work, to build the core skills, and to agree how the team wants to work together.

Ultimately, it's the human side of work which drives high-performing, sustainable organizations and employee fulfilment.

Clarity. Judgment. Critical Thinking. Communication. Creativity. Curiosity. Trust.

Without those things, even the best tools create more noise instead of better work.

Ready to make space for what matters? We can help.

How we help

When your people have the space and the skills to do their best work, everything downstream gets easier. That's what we help you build, through practical learning, real team connection, and honest conversations about how work actually happens.

On the pages that follow you'll find learning experiences and events designed to spark change and build momentum in your teams. And if you want to go further, tell us about your culture and your goals and we'll explore how to support lasting change across the organization. (There's an introduction to that on our Culture Consultancy page.)

Making the change stick

Our blended learning is designed to make the learning memorable, build accountability and help bottle that away-day energy.

Books

Our award-winning books are available as a wow-factor investment in your people and events. (By the way, all our live experiences include an eCopy of Graham Allcott's 'How to be a Productivity Ninja' business best-seller.)

The Productivity Ninja Academy

All our live experiences include digital handouts (and physical ones where appropriate), access to slides, and curated resources to support learning transfer or a deeper dive.

Embedding change

If you're serious about creating culture change, we can help you carve out the accountability and support to keep the new behaviors alive. From Impact Clinics and reinforcement email campaigns to executive coaching, we'll help you find the right support to turn good intentions into lasting change.

Culture Consultancy

When the challenge is bigger than a workshop

If your people are hearing mixed messages, seeing inconsistent behaviors and making unproductive assumptions, these are signals that your culture, or the 'way we do things around here', has drifted from what you want it to look like.

With our Think Productive Culture Flow™ framework, our culture consultants can help you diagnose where you are now and explore what will make the biggest difference to your organization.

That could mean bringing your leaders together to clarify 'what good looks like', putting in place 'ways of working' team agreements or strengthening your leadership and onboarding programs, to name just a few possibilities.

If you want to intentionally create the conditions that make focused, sustainable work possible – where expectations are clear, people take ownership and know how to work well together even in tricky times, it's time to dig beneath the surface and make space for the 'culture work'.

Leadership & Management Programmes

Most managers are squeezed from both sides: more expected from above, more needed from their teams, and rarely the time or support to do both well. Many were promoted for being good at the job, not prepared for the very different job of leading people. And the conversations that matter most are often the ones they put off.

More than ever, teams need leaders who understand the human side of managing people, with the mindset and tools to bring out the best in themselves and their teams. That's who we design for: bold insight, practical tools, and fresh thinking for the modern leader. And like everything at Think Productive, it's human-centered, grounded in reality, and sustainably productive.

Whether you're looking for subject-matter experts to enhance an existing programme, or an experienced partner to co-create your leadership and management strategy, we're here to help, making sure your leadership approach connects with your wider culture and change work.

The program was engaging, useful, relevant, clear and supportive. It opened my mind to new ideas, tools and effective methods, which in turn has refreshed my approach to work.

Since 2009, we've helped over

450,000

People across the world, in multiple languages (spanning every industry imaginable), to make space for what matters.

We stand for inclusivity

Our approach follows the principles of universal learning. This means:

- Giving all participants an equal opportunity to succeed.
- Offering flexibility in the way participants access material and show what they know.
- Seeking different ways to keep people motivated and engaged.

Creating a safe environment

- We don't assume we know participants' situations or context. We approach every interaction with natural curiosity and an open mind.
- We will never expect participants to contribute in a way that makes them feel uncomfortable. We welcome volunteers who would like to contribute to the discussion but never insist.
- We prioritize the psychological safety of our participants, holding neutral, non-judgmental positions and language so they feel it's a safe place to learn, question & grow.

The case for investing in your people

Right now, organizations are navigating more change, more complexity and more pressure than ever before.

And through all of it, one thing remains clear: employee engagement has a direct impact on performance – whatever the industry, location or size.

The numbers speak for themselves.

AI and new technologies continue to reshape the workplace; organizations are facing increasing pressure to adapt quickly while supporting people through constant change.

This helps explain the continued decline in manager engagement highlighted by Gallup – as the expectations placed on them continue to grow, often without the support, clarity or development needed to lead at their best.

And of course, the role managers play here is critical given they are the biggest influence on how engaged teams are.

At the same time, when budgets are uncertain and teams are stretched, the very initiatives that keep people skilled, supported and connected are often deprioritized – yet they're critical to sustaining performance and engagement.

Investing in your people (all of them!) breaks this vicious cycle – it shows them there's a future worth growing into together.

It's how organizations stay resilient, engaged and ready for what's next.
